

Review of: "Elderly social connectedness through social media platforms: a scoping review"

Bai Zheng-Gang

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This study chose an interesting and important topic currently. The author applied scientific methods of PRISMA-scoping review, and the results is robust. The whole manuscript writes clearly and be understand easily. I recommend to publish it after minor revision.

1. the author should consider to appraise the quality of included studies.
2. the background session should contain more information about published systematic review or relevant study, especially other countries study.