Review of: "[Viewpoint] Vaccination campaigns against Covid-19 may promote vaccine hesitancy toward mostly well-established, safe, and effective vaccines"

André Nohl

1 Rheinisch Westfälische Technische Hochschule Aachen

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Just at the beginning of the Covid vaccination there was also a lot of disinformation and corresponding campaigns by vaccination opponents. This disinformation, which is difficult to refute by laypersons, has certainly also had an influence on the willingness to vaccinate. This point should be taken into account in your discussion (https://www.mdpi.com/2076-393X/9/5/424).