I enjoy reading this article, it is very interesting, and talks about the nation's character. But some of my notes: (1) please complete the abstract in the following order: problem sentence, research method, research questions, research results, and provide recommendations. (2) the background is written in order: theory from broad to narrow, then existing field problems, and give research questions. (3) Research method: not a quantitative descriptive but a qualitative descriptive approach, or literature study. (4) The research results have not yet appeared and try to appear with several subtitles. (5) Discussion of research can be carried out when research results appear. (6) conclusion: answering the research questions at the end of the background.
