Thank you for the opportunity to review this study.

Its main strength is that it is simple and easy to understand. However, some aspects may need to be improved. Here are my comments to consider:

I wonder what high-ability in "high-ability Senior Secondary" refers to. How do you measure ability in the context of your study?

Kindly elaborate on the rationale for using the multistage sampling technique in this study.

An R square of 0.99 is something we usually do not see in studies. I suggest the author to elaborate on the different steps adopted to carry on the analysis.

In the discussion, the author can include an explanation of the findings. Why is your finding similar (or not similar) to other findings?
