

Review of: "Sentiment Analysis on Social Media"

Daniel Hasan Dalip¹

¹ Centro Federal de Educação Tecnológica de Minas Gerais

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The goal of this article is to present the methods used in order to perform sentiment analysis on social media.

The article just presented the techniques commonly used in the area. However, they did not presented any results of sentiment analysis approach. Then, I would like to suggest some improvements in this article:

-> The end of the literature review, authors presented what they did for sentiment analysis (as far as I could understand).

This can be part of the methodology.

-> The methodology section need to be improved to present how a sentiment analysis method can be effectively done.

After that, it would be interesting to present a Result section showing how the prediction results or, at least, the applicability of the method. In Methodology the authors should present a pipeline for a case of study in order to connect all the presented methods. Furthermore, I would suggest the authors to present repository links with dataset and implementation of the methodology.