The article is very well structured, in accordance with scientific research, provides knowledge to the topic and arouses interest.

However, I think that some improvements could be made. Section 2, although it demonstrates an extensive study of the state of the art, is too extensive, with excessive repetition of some concepts. Sequences of problems and solutions are produced without numbering in 2.1.4. It is recommended to reduce the length of this point and structure it better

It is necessary to correct repetitions of the same word at various points in the text:

- First paragraph of 2.1 – Due to appears 2 times in a row
- Last paragraph of 4 – data appears 2 times in a row
- First paragraph of 4.1 – road to appears 3 times in a row

The images and plans lack sharpness and low quality figures, made by hand. It is recommended to significantly improve the quality of the images and plans, which should be more in line with figures 14 and 15, with significantly higher graphic quality.
