

Review of: "An Analysis of the Russian Patent Situation in the Context of the Ukrainian Situation"

Yoshiyuki Osabe

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The main theme of the article is interesting. However, there is no METHODS part in the article. So the author should note, at least, what kind of database is used, and the definition of "patents" or "patent rights"(is it granted or application, and is it single patent or family patent, etc.).

It is better to be discussed the impact of the suspension of cooperation between the Russian Patent Office and other patent offices, like suspension of PPH. The changes of IP strategy to Russia in each company showed in Table 2 are also to be discussed.