

Review of: "Examining the Relationship of Chapter 1 to Other Chapters in a Dissertation or Thesis"

Zahra Shamsavar<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Shiraz University of Medical Sciences

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic is very interesting, but here are some suggestions for the author to improve it.

Since there is a remarkable resemblance between writing an article, a dissertation, or a thesis, the author should write the main points (e.g., research objective, significance of the study, organization of the study, findings, and deep discussion) as noted in Table 1 in this article.

More updated references are required to support the literature review and discussion.

It would look more interesting if the author could conduct interviews with a few students whose dissertations/theses are evaluated. I think the following article can assist the author in performing this task.

Shamsavar, Z., Kourepaz, H., & Bulut, S. (2020). Postgraduate students' difficulties in writing their theses literature review. Cogent Education, 7(1). <https://doi.org/10.1080/2331186X.2020.1784620>.