

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Heterozygous genotype

National Cancer Institute (NCI)

Source

National Cancer Institute (NCI). Heterozygous genotype.

Occurs when the two alleles at a particular gene locus are different. A heterozygous genotype may include one normal allele and one mutation, or two different mutations. The latter is called a compound heterozygote.