

Review of: "Solving Pallet loading Problem with Real-World Constraints"

Hualing Bi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

When dealing with the challenging problem of loading transport units onto pallets in logistics, it is essential to thoroughly evaluate and compare different algorithms to identify the most efficient and effective solution. Comparing algorithms can provide valuable insights into their strengths, weaknesses, and computational performance. Please enhance the parts of experiments.