

Review of: "A Review of the Drawdown Zone in African Reservoirs: Current Knowledge, Understudied Areas and Recommendations for Future Research"

Sheng Hui¹

¹ China University of Petroleum, East China

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The state of the art should be improved. It would be useful to organise the presentation of the papers so that they focus more on the main advantages and critical aspects of each study and analyse the main results they provide. In this way, you can clarify the original contributions proposed in these papers.

2. The authors should give state-of-the-art references and approaches to the readers.