

Review of: "The Role of Financial Literacy on Sustainable Development of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) in Africa"

Panagiotis Kotsios¹

¹ Hellenic Open University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Authors,

This is a an important topic you chose to examine and the analysis method is interesting. My comments are below:

- You associated the financial literacy with “sustainable development” of African enterprises. What does sustainable development mean? You have some information in 2.3, but I find none of them relevant to the topic. In my understanding you should measure business viability and growth, which are the outcomes of sustainability.
- There are so many differences in the business country context across Africa, that I would be very skeptical to sum them all up in one research.
- There is no information on how was the data collected.
- Sincerely