

Review of: "Armed Conflicts in Africa and Environmental Intelligence for Sustainability"

Saima Sarwar<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Government College University Lahore

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors address a very important issue using various dimensions, i.e., environmental, social aspects, and sustainability. Recent studies have also been cited to support the argument, and in a theoretical manner, the idea has been developed in a very technical way. However, this study lacks on methodological grounds as it is difficult to know how the authors have been able to conclude the discussion. Data is available for many discussed variables, or in other words, the authors can operationalize definitions by using proxy variables. This will authenticate the results furthermore for the readers.