Review of: "Death of English and the Language of the Internet: Mistakes and Errors"

Sangeeta Mukherjee

Potential competing interests: The author(s) declared that no potential competing interests exist.

The article "Death of English and the Language of the Internet: Mistakes and Errors" by Professor K M Baharul Islam analyses the mistakes and errors committed by the students in their answer scripts and their failure to identify those errors. It leads the researcher to deduce how the era of internet has possibly led to the death of English since the students have become so used to using abbreviations and emojis that they have lost their ability to use the Standard form of English. The article correctly explores the addiction of the students towards social media and the impact it creates during academic writing and performance. But whether it is 'disrespect for English language' or sheer apathy on the part of the students is open to speculation.