

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Triple-Phase Spiral CT

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Triple-Phase Spiral CT. NCI Thesaurus. Code C19907.

A form of computed tomography (CT) in which images are taken during three distinct timing points (phases) following the injection of contrast material: arterial, venous, and delayed. This form of CT imaging is most commonly used to image hepatic lesions.