

Open Peer Review on Qeios

High Occupancy Target Region

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. High Occupancy Target Region. NCI Thesaurus. Code C124228.

A regulatory element that is a target for a large number of transcription regulatory proteins. These DNA sequences, which play a role in the regulation of gene expression, bind to transcription factors or coregulatory proteins at a higher density than would be expected by chance.