The paper is interesting, however I think it can be implemented for publication:

- 1) I would like the tests performed to also be assayed on E.coli or another Gram negative bacterium and certainly with psychrophile listeria monocytogenes
- 2) Figure 1 has no statistics or it is not clear whether it has been performed
- 3) It would be interesting to evaluate the antimicrobial effect also in combination to evaluate a possible synergistic or additive effect between Lactobacillus and Bifidobacterium, and not used individually
