The manuscript presents valuable information on oil-gas reservoir recovery. However, it seems to me a very lengthy manuscript for publication. It is rather a chapter in book. The word 'pool' is repeated and can be better replaced by 'reservoir'. Several figures need improvement and better quality. The structure of the chapter/or paper requires attention to be more readable. A conclusions-section is missing with some recommendations. I suggest shortening the manuscript or published as a few paper-parts.
