

Review of: "Toward a comprehensive behavioral model of hurricane preparedness: The Protective Behavior Model"

Rema R

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

- In order to encourage the development of ideas, new ones should be accepted. It's an excellent topic The Protective Behavior Model (PBM), explains why people engage in hurricane preparedness behaviors using constructs from 23 different theories of human behavior.
- I would recommend that the author use these chapters to organize this paper. Chapter 1 Introduction; Chapter 2 literature review; Chapter 3 Method; Chapter 4 Results; Chapter 5 Implications; Chapter 6 Conclusion; and List of references.
- The abstract should state briefly the purpose of the research, the principal results and major conclusions.
- Please underscore the scientific value-added of your paper in your abstract and introduction.
- Describe your findings step-by-step and include references to the suggested approach.
- References are too old to support the ideas. Authors need to update the references within five years.