The research topic is appropriate. The article's research findings are both interesting and informative. However, some sections can be improvised.

Abstract - To include methodology and the main contribution.

Introduction - Recent articles from 2019 should be more heavily cited in the introduction and research problems to demonstrate that the issues and gaps are still relevant for research.

Literature review - The literature review is weak because most references are outdated. Add more recent citations from 2019 onwards and show the gap in the study.

Methodology & Findings - Well explained and presented.

Conclusion - To include future research.
