

Review of: "Impact of Emotional Intelligence on the Well-being of Teachers and Students"

Tarik Wasfie

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article discusses the relationship between emotional intelligence and the wellbeing of teachers and students in a governmental institution; however, it would be more informative for a wider readership if it included those in the private sector.