

Review of: "The Students and Faculty Perception of Digital Citizenship Practices in Distance Learning Environment – The Case Study of Al-Quds Open University"

Veronica Njambi kihugi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is a good study as it gives as a picture of the relationship between digital citizenship and E-learning.

I feel that the topic does not match well with the manuscript as the perception of the faculty has not come out very well.

Other things you can correct include,

- You state that this is a mixed method study but most of the methods used are not well described,
- Inferential statistics appear to be missing and this does not give us a conclusive report as should.
- Try to make the abstract and discussion portions concise and to the point so that we can trace each of the important take homes from this study and what they mean in relation to Digital citizenship and E-learning. generally, this will be a great paper once you have refined these parts. Feel free to reach out incase of further guidance.