Review of: "[General Review] Digital Transformation of Government Public Library Services in Bangladesh"

Dengdeng Wanyan[1]

1 Xiangtan University

The manuscript combs the literature on the digital transformation of Bangladesh public library services, pointing out its opportunities and challenges, which has certain theoretical and practical significance, but there are also some shortcomings in the manuscript. The following suggestions are for the author's reference: (1) The title is "Digital Transformation of Government Public Library Services in Bangladesh", the content focuses on challenges and opportunities, and the title is inconsistent, The Digital transformation of public library services involves more than just challenges and opportunities. The literature on challenges and opportunities of digital transformation of Bangladesh public library services listed in the manuscript is not many, and the length of the paper is short. If the title remains unchanged, it is suggested to comprehensively sort out the existing research on digital transformation of Bangladesh public library services, and supplement the research on the theory, influencing factors, technical support, practical progress, cases, countermeasures, etc. of digital transformation of public library services. (2) I suggest supplementing the conclusion, summarizing the characteristics of existing research, pointing out its shortcomings and future research directions. (3) I suggest explaining the document retrieval strategy and the number of relevant literature obtained. (4) The title is Bangladesh, there is no need to write "The world view of Digital transformation of Public Libraries" as a separate part, simply mention it in the introduction.