The introduction is very confusing I feel like the paragraphs are not connected to each other, please be more relevant.

The introduction section needs a lot of improvements; you need to follow a strategy to address all variables of the study in the introduction; I always advise researchers to follow the "reverse triangle approach", where you can start with the general idea and go deeper till you address the fundamental gap of the research. The whole manuscript will also benefit from English editing. Problem statement It is not enough, please elaborate more, show your argument in writing.

Methods section is ok and comprehensive. Data analysis section is ok and comprehensive. The discussion must be integrated with the literature and the findings. It's too broad and confusing. You must align it with the literature review.

Please argue and support your argument with past research or else this is not a discussion anymore this is an explanation of your results again! Support any strong claim or conclusion with past research. In conclusion, you must summaries the main objective of the research about the current research contributing to the body of knowledge.
