Review of: "Elderly social connectedness through social media platforms: a scoping review"

Don D.H. Shin

Thank you for submitting your work to the journal. I've read it with interest. The paper is well written, nicely conceptualized (social connnectedness), and well thought out. My only reservation is about literature review. I see many important and relevant work to the key concepts are not well cited nor considered critically. Thus I urge the authors to include relevant work in the revision. Particularly, I suggest the following work for possible inclusion:

Other than the reference issue, the paper is worthwhile to be considered for publication.
