

Review of: "Data Interpretation in Social Research: a Guide to Standardising Research Outcomes And Outcome Evaluation"

Shih Chieh Chien<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> National Taipei University of Business

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic merits its own investigation and the article reads well. This article brings several important arguments in addressing the issue of data interpretation. It contributes to our understanding of a need to clarify the problem of data interpretation in social research and highlights the importance of the public and the communication interests of the researcher.