Despite the fact that ChatGPT is an innovating, inspiring and interesting topic, i believe that the author needs to elaborate more on the innovation theory literature specifically the disruptive part, moreover the research should include an adequate methodology before jumping into conclusions and disadvantages etc…

It could be considered as a working paper topic where these sections are parts of the outline and the introduction and some of the conclusion, the author should elaborate the theoretical background, the methodology used (qualitative, quantitative, etc…) the data collection and analysis and then conclude and recommend.

It still needs a lot of work, and i guess these parts can't be done using CHATGPT!!

Good luck
