

Review of: "First long-term safety analysis of the ChAdOx1-nCoV-19 corona virus vaccine: results from a prospective observational study in priority vaccinated groups in North India"

Oya Baydar

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The study was written in a very clear and detailed way and answered questions that aroused curiosity in the medical literature. In the limitations section, it can be stated that the population participating in the study is healthcare workers or older people and therefore does not represent the entire population.

I think this is a relevant study to publish in the journals.