

Review of: "Presenting a Wind Turbine Model for Climate Change Education and Action"

Isabel García-Rodeja¹

¹ Universidad de Santiago de Compostela

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article introduces the wind turbine model, a comprehensive approach to climate change education developed based on an extensive literature review. Regarding potential improvements, it is suggested to review the literature on conceptual obstacles and alternative models held by students and the general public regarding the causes and consequences of climate change. These alternative models influence what they consider possible mitigation strategies.