Thank you for the opportunity to review this article. The title is very interesting as it develops new tools for CAM literature searching machines named Kalya Research. Please provide the detailed novelty of KR compared to other CAM databases. How about the ethical considerations of publishing the article? Is the article published in KR also published in other databases? Are there any medical terminologies that are specifically used in KR? Since KR is mainly based on a single data source, PubMed, are there any legal aspects of it? Please improve it with a user evaluation of using KR in cancer research.
