

Review of: "Developing A Novel Solvent System to Isolate Plant Pigments of Different Polarities Using Thin Layer Chromatography"

Omar Abdulakder

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

A wonderful and distinguished article, and its arrangement is very excellent, and the sources are mostly recent

1- you have to mention the names of the two plants in the title of the article

2- in materials, the types of solvents used were not mentioned

All of the above will not detract from the wonderful research with regards