Only composed of Google articles. Even though Google database is quite extensive, most articles do not have permission to access. And the number of articles remains limited/is not adequate to reach.

Grammar mistakes are common.

Introduction should be extended. The aim of the study and the gap in literature should be given in detail. Limited information was given.

The number of the articles is limited to reach these conclusions. External validity problem exists.

Still, it is a well-organized article. Results are satisfactory.
