Dear Authors,

Congratulations on addressing an interesting and pertinent topic in your research. I have a few suggestions that might enhance the clarity and rigor of your work.

Consider summarizing your results in a table format to improve readability and accessibility to key findings. Incorporating a quality assessment, such as the JBI checklist, would also strengthen the credibility of your study. Additionally, the results section could benefit from more specificity, including detailed information on the evolution of the concept, relevant terminology, and current assessment methods. Summarizing significant reviews or empirical results in the field would add valuable context to your findings. Lastly, please ensure that your research protocol is registered, as this step can provide transparency and reinforce the robustness of your research.

Kind regards,
