

Review of: "The Role of Green Legacy in Promoting Sustainable Development and Combating Climate Change"

Maria Meirelles¹

¹ Universidade dos Acores

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article contributes to the global dialogue on climate change, reforestation, and sustainability and guides policy decisions. It addresses current and relevant issues. However, for its publication, I consider it necessary to make the following adjustments:

- The writing of the text requires some attention; more clarity in explaining the topics addressed.
- Expand the reference to similar initiatives in other countries to better assess the potential of the Green Legacy.
- In the keywords, I believe "policy decisions" could be added.
- The boxes explaining the methodology used are confused. The use of boxes is not advisable.
- The research is unclear for the readers. Provide some information about the respondents and the method of selecting these respondents.
- Address how the increase in forest coverage and sustainable practices directly impacts the resilience of local communities in the face of climate change.
- To make the article more robust, I believe it will be necessary to add some more references.