Dear authors,

It is my pleasure to read your manuscript, and to see the effort made to produce the manuscript in its final form.

General comments:

The "Analyze the Influence of Socio-Economic Conditions of Parents on the Personality of Christian Teachers in Tambaksari District, Surabaya" presents a quantitative study about finding out and analyzing the influence of the socio-economic conditions of parents and parents' background together on the personality of Christian teachers in Tambaksari District, Surabaya.

The paper is in most parts nice to read and presents an interesting piece of work. Nevertheless, there are some obstacles to publication in its present form. The main reason here is the lack of many fundamental parts of the research paper such as literature review, psychometric properties of data collection tools, results of data analysis. Also, why should the approach here be more effective than other approaches?

Title:

Although it is better not to mention the place of study in the title, not mentioning the name of the country is very distracting to the international reader. I had to search for the name of this region on the Internet to know that it is in Indonesia.

Abstract:

It should not contain hypotheses. The abstract gives an overview of the research objective, and the main results and recommendations. I think the abstract should be rewritten again. In this abstract, there are many ambiguities, for example what are the statistical methods and methods used to analyze the data, and what research tools were used.

Keywords:

Keywords need to be reselected. Why was (analyse) and (conditions) alone used as a keyword?

Literature review:

There should be a separate title named (Literature review) in which previous studies that discussed this topic should be placed. Also, some studies in this paper need to be cited.

Methodology:

The methodology section is very deficient. Quantitative research has different types, and the authors did not indicate to which type this paper belongs?

Sub-title of 'Research variable', 'Data collection technique', 'Research Instruments', and 'Statistical Hypothesis' should be moved to the methodology section.

Note: This study did not provide any results for psychometric characteristics, and this raises the suspicion that the results of this study are not reliable.

Discussion:

The authors stated, "The results of this study indicate that there is an influence between the socio-economic conditions of the teacher's parents and the background of the teacher's parents on the personality of the Christian teacher, which can be seen from the information below:", There is no data in this paper to support this conclusion.

There is an incomprehensible repetition, where the authors state "meaning that the student's personality is neither too good nor bad. Sometimes students can show a good personality, and sometimes students can show a bad personality. Meaning that the student's personality is not too good and also not bad. Sometimes students can show a good personality, and sometimes students can show a bad personality. Meaning that the student's personality is not too good and also not bad. Sometimes students can show a good personality, and sometimes students can show a bad personality. " Why was this paragraph repeated three times?

Conclusion:

The conclusion needs to be developed.

References:

References are not written correctly. References need to be developed using the APA style.

Taken together, I think the manuscript needs a lot of work and development. Thus, I do not recommend publishing the paper in its current form.
