

Review of: "Female Youth Unemployment in the GCC Countries"

Yen-Ling Lin¹

¹ Tamkang University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Author,

This study is an interesting research! I have some minor suggestions to offer for modifications.

In this version, it is not significant to see the literature contribution of this article. It is suggested to add a little more description about the research value of this paper. There is also a lack of convincing inferences about why the unemployment rate of female youth is particularly high in these countries. The estimated model is a little simple and lacks the robustness test of the results. It is suggested that non-linear variables can be considered to capture the changes in marginal effects. It is also suggested that policy implications should be put forward in the end of sections. Hope these help your article.

Best regards,