

Review of: "A Bibliometric Review of CSR in China Based on CNKI Database: 2006-2022"

Erzsébet Péter¹

¹ University of Pannonia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Authors!

The Literature Review (2628) is relevant and the article is very interesting, for which I heartily congratulate you. As China is very dominant in the world in terms of international trade, any CSR process through the supply chain will have an impact on foreign trade and businesses in other countries. I would definitely suggest citing studies across international continents within the literature review and at least through case studies within the empirical study to show how the Chinese approach affects businesses in other countries.

Lengyel, Péter ; Bai, Attila ✉ ; Gabnai, Zoltán ✉ ; Mustafa, Othman Mohammad Ahmed ; Balogh, Péter ; Péter, Erzsébet ; Tóth-Kaszás, Nikolett ; Németh, Kornél Development of the Concept of Circular Supply Chain Management-A Systematic Review PROCESSES 9 : 10 p. 1740 (2021) <https://www.mdpi.com/2227-9717/9/10/1740>

Your economy and trade are remarkable, and so are your sustainability theory and practice. Please make this comparable for a European or African, American reader. What is different between Chinese CSR and the sustainability theory of companies based in other continents and what do they have in common. After these additions, you will be able to publish a globally valuable paper. Congratulations again, keep up the good work!