

Review of: "Data Science using openAI: testing their new capabilities focused on data science"

Nur Aqilah Khadijah Rosili¹

¹ Quest International University Perak

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Generally, the idea and objective are good.

However, a thorough review of the literature should be done regarding the method used.

Method: It is not clearly explained, as I found it hard to understand how this tool or method should be used.

Result: Details of the example are not clearly stated, and it looks like trial and error. No justification for the chosen area/field.

Conclusion: Testing the capabilities of AI is interesting; however, it is not suitable for a journal or article as there are no specific structures for performing the tests and no review of previous research.