In this study, the authors have thoroughly covered the topic under discussion, and the manuscript is well-written.

Below are some suggestions to improve the overall study.

1- For more access to the article, it is better to choose keywords from words outside the words in the title.

For example: natural preservation, food borne pathogens, essential oils, plant extracts, infectious disease

2- It is better to write the introduction in one section without dividing the sections and in a more coherent way. Furthermore, discuss the ways of transmission of pathogens (with more emphasis on food transmission)

3- It is suggested that the authors provide more recent references in the introduction.

Best regards.
