

Review of: "Strategies for Reducing Inherent Cognitive Biases in Educational Classrooms"

Balamuralithara Balakrishnan¹

¹ Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is an interesting article that discusses the new dimension of cognitive bias, which is cognitive debiasing reduction (CDR). This CDR context is not a well-researched area in the education sector across all levels. The article brings a fresh perspective on CDR and on how this CDR can be applied in education. A thorough literature study conducted within the discussion encourages us to dwell more on CDR.