

Review of: "Prevalence of Buruli Ulcer Among Residents in Jasikan Municipality: A Cross-Sectional Study"

Ana Izabel Passarella Teixeira

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This seems to be a necessary work due the nature of this disease. I would like to point out just some things: how the sample size was calculated is not clear. I tried to reach out the reference cited, but it was not available. Also how participants recruitment was done was not clear either. How was chosen who would be tested? With this methodology discription I am not sure if I could replicate it.