

Review of: "Cults and the LGBTQ Community: A Systematic Review Using PRISMA"

Nastassia Rambarran

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The issue and the choice of cult correlation were poorly introduced and did not give enough background on the rationale

The methodology was unclear and lacked any flowcharts and transparency

The results were confusing and conflated well-established religions with cults. The discussion of these findings would have benefitted from greater expansion and dissection