

Review of: "[Commentary] #BetterPoster: The gateway to accessible science"

Doxa Papakonstantinou

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The idea presented in the article is exciting. Accessible posters for all reflect universal design principles and should have already been a reality. However, this is not the case. I would like to see this piece formed in either a review or a research article, with all parts covered, such as the theoretical background, methodology, results, and discussion section. In any case, more information is required on the better poster idea.