

Review of: "Soccer fans, stadium attendance, and interpersonal trust in the Mexican population"

Wadih Ishac¹

¹ University of Qatar

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for this interesting article I believe it is an interesting topic, thus it still a bit premature for publication.

The study requires more focus on the context.

The author highlights that Latin American tends to be untrusting in the abstract. Thus it is important to elaborate more in the content. The introduction requires more information related to the topic, the author needs to guide the reader.

The following articles, can provide with more insights to the authors:

Richardson, K. (2023). Black Professional Football Players, Social Capital and Social Change. Critical Issues in Football: A Sociological Analysis of the Beautiful Game.

Fenton, A., Keegan, B. J., & Parry, K. D. (2023). Understanding sporting social media brand communities, place and social capital: A netnography of football fans. Communication & Sport, 11(2), 313-333.

Moura, E. S. (2022). Examining Social Capital in Brazilian Football: Lessons from a Girls' Sport for Development Project. In Women's Football in Latin America: Social Challenges and Historical Perspectives Vol 1. Brazil(pp. 181-200). Cham: Springer International Publishing.

The section results needs formatting

Still require some proof reading