

Review of: "Inclusive Academic Advising for students with mental health issues. The views and experiences of Academic Advisers"

Kyoko Amai

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for the opportunity to review this article. This is an important study using valuable data. For make it more sophisticated, I recommend two points to be improved.

1. Structure the findings

Currently, the result section looks like a list of utterances, and readers cannot understand how the utterances were selected. It is a very important point to show that this article is not arbitrary. I recommend to the authors to clearly show the structure of their finding. For instance, a table with two axes the categories and the experiences of AAs may be helpful. If you refer other qualitative studies, you may easily find this kind of tables that illustrate the number of utterances by the categories and by the characteristics of interviewees. Thus, please make the structure of findings clearer.

2. Make the introduction sophisticated

As other reviewers said, the introduction is verbose and mixed with sentences that do not make logical sense. I recommend to break it into some sections and confirm the logic.

If there two main points above were improved, this article would be more stronger and contribute to the field. Again, thank you for your valuable study.