

Review of: "Six Months of Remote Patient Monitoring is Associated with Blood Pressure Reduction in Hypertensive Patients: An Uncontrolled, Observational Study"

Oleksii Korzh

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is an interesting important study. Great job!

However, there are several changes that need to be made to the paper to ensure it is complete.

My suggestions are:

- I would recommend to include some additional details in the statistical part of the methods section.
- Please ensure that you have fully discussed the methodological limitations of the study in the discussion section of the main text.
- You should use more contemporary references.