Title:

The concept of "sociology of religion" reflects that the basis of analysis and the dimensions of the analysis must be from the context, definition, characteristics, and indicators of the sociology of religion. Results and discussion should be consistent with the title.

Abstract:

What is the purpose of studying the central role of Bank Plecit's business in moving the wheels of the economy and seeking explanations for the close relationship with its customers? So this goal should guide researchers to prove in the Results and Discussion chapter.

The results and conclusions should mention the central role of the Plecit bank in the rural economic cycle and other sociological dimensions specifically.

Goals and conclusions do not coincide.

Introduction:

Paragraphs 1, 2, and so on, the author should quote from official regulations such as the Bank of Indonesia or the Ministry of Finance of the Republic of Indonesia, not from open-edited such as Kompasiana, and enriched by various studies on Grameen Bank a la Bangladesh and multiple countries in the world.

The middle paragraph should explain the problems if commercial and even shark loan banks operate against the "sociology of religion."

In the final paragraph, it must explicitly state what the research questions put forward in this paper so that it aligns with the objectives listed in the Abstract.

Bank Plecit and its Operations:

This description should be added with a picture of the business model of Plecit Bank and the differences from a traditional commercial bank. Also, what are the problems arising from the Plecit bank model regarding the sociology of religion dimension?

Religious Epistemological Problems:

Make a list of keywords related to religious epistemological problems and use these keywords as the dimensions of the analysis to match the title. This analysis dimension is a research model for the results and discussion chapters.

Manuscripts in this chapter section must be structured with indicators or dimensions.

Principles of Entrepreneurship:

This chapter should review "Entrepreneurship in Religious Perspective" to align with and reflect an economic cycle supported by religious values that do not practice as loan sharks.

Cultural Analysis:

Why discuss cultural analysis? Just focus on specific dimensions of the sociology of religion. Indeed, religion is part of the culture, but the perspective of religious values should be the focus of this paper.

The cultural dimension is not stated in the title and is optional if unrelated.

Consider the following references for analysis dimensions:

The Dimensions of Religiosity, G. H. Mueller, Sociology of Religion, Volume 41, Issue 1, Spring 1980, Pages 1–24, <https://doi.org/10.2307/3709855>

Conclusion:

The conclusion should focus on the "sociology of religion" perspective by concluding one of one the dimensions of the analysis. Use Mueller's references, such as solidarity, ideology, and morality, as examples of dimensions or with other indicators.
