

Review of: "Business projects need to be handled differently from construction projects"

Nurul Sakina Mokhtar Azizi<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universiti Sains Malaysia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The problem statement can be clarified by explaining why there is a need to compare a business project to a construction project. Context can be more meaningful if the nature of the business for this paper is explained, whether it is agricultural, automotive, fashion, food, or another industry. Include the research objectives as well as its research methodology employed to strengthen the content. Focus of the paper can be enhanced by stating how many articles was reviewed to address the research objectives. The current findings appear general. It would be better if the specific results are summarised in the abstract. In addition, highlight the targeted audience that would benefit from your paper

The entire structure of the paper can be improved by including proper citations to support the presented information. By including the research gap of this paper would strengthen how your findings contribute to the body of knowledge.