

Review of: "Marine Medical Response: Exploring the Training, Role and Scope of Paramedics and Paramedicine (ETRSp)"

Ravee Phoewhawm¹

¹ Chongqing Technology and Business University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

With your primary aim in exploring "the untapped potential and benefits of integrating paramedics into the realm of marine medicine", you can construct questions based on the untapped potential of integrating paramedics into the realm of marine medicine, the benefits of integrating, and realm of marine medicine itself. Focus on these three questions (or more) to search on the paradigms or models that have been applied with empirical findings, which should be detailed in your literature review. The discussion section which points out to nine factors could be the providing guidance model that you want to discuss about based on your own perspective. Best of luck on your work for journal publication.