

Review of: "Development of a Mobile Application for Flag Identification based on Artificial Neural Networks"

Fezile Ozdamli¹

¹ Near East University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In the introduction part, the problem situation should be explained by supporting it with more literature.

The application of the study is clear and understandable. However, the contributions of the study to the international literature and the limitations of the study should be mentioned in the conclusion.